Surround yourself with sound. Not speakers.

After years of research and development, Harman's engineers have developed MultiBeam™, an electro-acoustic system that applies a patent-pending beam forming method to a speaker array with the benefit of a more realistic surround sound experience. MultiBeam™ uses an angled speaker array along with immersive digital signal processing (DSP) algorithm to create a sharp directivity that beams sound to the side walls. This creates a spacious effect and surround experience using a pattern of such beams in wide-band frequency range. While strengthening sideward directivity and limiting forward directivity, and further generating accurate sidewall reflection, the sound is mirrored to the listening location, creating a spacious sound. With the application of MultiBeam™ technology, the Enchant soundbars integrate multiple channels into a single speaker cabinet.
